

FRIENDS OF THE PLAINVILLE PUBLIC LIBRARY PROGRAM

Wednesday, June 9th, 2010 at 7:00 pm

Mark Twain in Hartford, 1871 – 1891

Join us on Wednesday, June 9th and spend time with Hartford's own, Mark Twain.

The audience will explore how a "Missouri ruffian" like Samuel Clemens who, as a consequence of having resided in Connecticut's capital city for twenty years, was transformed into the "Hartford luminary" known as "Mark Twain." Clemens once said of Hartford that "I think this is the best-built and handsomest town I have ever seen," and this judgment had a great deal to do with why he and his family settled here in a remarkable house located on Farmington Avenue in the fashionable Hartford neighborhood of Nook Farm.

This program will be held in the Plainville Public Library auditorium, 56 East Main Street, Plainville. The public is welcomed; refreshments will be served. Call the library at 860-793-1446 with any questions.
